Why partner with the breakfast event?

Access to key individuals and influences in the Education, Health and Residential Sectors.

What people have said about our events...

I have been attending ACN events since its inception. ACN has provided some great networking opportunities, resulting in new professional relationships and commissions. But it has also been a great forum for discussing current challenges and opportunities facing designers and constructors in the collaborative breakfast settings and also at the extremely well organised conferences. Curl la Tourelle Head Architecture

"Many thanks for organising the breakfast event, I found it very useful and beneficial catching up with like-minded construction professionals, I look forward to the forthcoming events". Butler & Young

"I have been to many networking events, yours was very different and much better for it, I will be pleased to attend your future events as I made many new contacts and caught up with a couple of old contacts". Kingspan

Key Benefits

Being a Partner of The ACN will provide you with direct access to key individuals within your chosen sector over a two-hour period. You will benefit from a captive audience with the ability to display and promote your product and services in an interactive way allowing maximum impact.

By inviting your key clients to your partnered event, you can demonstrate your credibility within your peer group. You can also augment your credentials by taking part as a panel speaker to demonstrate your knowledge in your area of expertise and enhance the likelihood of individuals and organisations wanting to utilise your services.
